Letter to the Editor:

As a thirteen-year resident of Sagamore Hills Township, member of the Sierra club and hybrid car driver, I am proud of the actions of the Sagamore Hills Board of Trustees. Most recently, the Trustees have installed a rain garden, a storm water collection barrel and pet waste collection station at the Township Park. Previous “green” actions of the Board have involved the purchases of land, to create and keep green space in our Township.

In this day and age, lots of officials and citizens talk a great deal about being “green” and saving the environment. Few people actually do anything to make a difference. Making a real difference requires time and energy. The “green” way is not always the easiest way, or the way that will make the municipality the most money. The Summit County area is full of beautiful forests, meadows, ponds, wetlands and streams. Area elected officials should follow the examples set by the Sagamore Hills Board of Trustees and work toward saving the beauty that surrounds us.
